DID YOU CHARGE YOUR GLASSES?

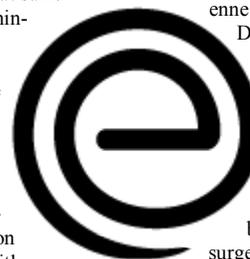

The Cheyenne Vision Clinic will carry PixelOptics' revolutionary emPower! eyeglasses, the world's first and only electronic focusing prescription eyewear.

Similar to today's consumer electronics, emPower! eyeglasses features a microchip, composite lenses with a thin transparent LCD-like layer, miniature rechargeable batteries, and a micro-machine accelerometer to detect tilt. The microchip, micro-accelerometer, and miniature batteries are hidden inside the temples of the eyeglass frames. The transparent liquid crystal layer in each lens is able to electronically activate the reading portion when the wearer needs it. Turning the reading portion on or off happens virtually instantaneously. There are no visible moving parts or noises. Wearers can operate the glasses in three different modes: manual on, automatic and manual off. emPower! eyeglasses look and feel like designer eyeglasses. They are shock resistant and waterproof.

One charge of the battery allows for two to three days of operation.

Experts believe emPower! will become the choice for the tens of millions of consumers that suffer from presbyopia, the diminished ability to focus on near objects that affects many starting around the age of 40. Unlike the typical corrective lenses, emPower! eyeglasses provide a wider field of view, less distortion and alleviate common side effects associated with progressive lenses and bifocals used to address presbyopia.

emPower! represents a quantum leap in optical technology that addresses the needs of a huge segment of the consumer market suffering affected by presbyopia."

BLADELESS LASER CATARACT SURGERY

The Cheyenne Vision Clinic is proud to announce that the Bladeless Cataract Surgery has made its debut here in Cheyenne with the co-management with Dr. Foster. The CVC is now offering the newest option in the surgical arena, once again. The Bladeless Cataract Surgery we now offer to our patients is the most advanced automated surgery, with exquisite accuracy and safety that is well beyond that of manual cataract surgery. See any one of our doctors to get more information.

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR STAFF

The staff at the Cheyenne Vision Clinic is ever eager to continue their pursuit in the optometric field. It is with great pride in our employees that we take the time to congratulate Dr. Carroll on being the only Board Certified (by examination) Optometrist in Wyoming.

Mrs. Jennifer Eisenmann on the recent National Contact Lens Examiners Certification (NCLEC)

Mrs. Alyx Benintende on the recent certified Paraoptometric (CPO).

And Ms. Josey VanOrsdale on the NCLEC and Certified Paraoptometric Assistant (CPOA).

FROM OUR PATIENTS THEMSELVES

"I trusted my eyesight to the experience and skilled hands of Dr. Mark Wells, at Cheyenne Vision Clinic. He used the most state of the art instruments and techniques I have ever seen. It showed that his experience of performing thousands of procedures and his skills are second to none. Hey, experience counts!"

- A Patient experiencing difficulty finding contacts, visited 7 other doctors.

"I have never had such a thorough eye exam. I did not sit in the waiting room for hours. The doctor, not a technician, did my eye exam",

"We love your clinic mission, 'OUR MISSION IS YOUR VISION'"

"Would you have your baby delivered at the mall? Then why would you have your eyes examined there?!",

"You saved my life Dr LaHiff"

-Metastatic eye tumor found during eye exam for headaches

"Thank you for being on-call 24 hours a day. I was in severe pain from the piece of metal in my right eye"

"Thank you for saving my child's eye. I did not know that a jump rope hitting his eye could cause blood inside the eye"

"Now I know you can see cardiovascular body changes in my annual eye exam. The photographs of the inside of my eyes were informative",

"Thank you for my life"

- Brain aneurism found during eye examination

NEW ADDITIONS TO THE OPTICAL GALLERY

The Optical Gallery has been working very hard this season to bring in some of the newest couture eyewear. Some of the new brands you are likely to see this spring include, empower, Vera Bradley and the Coach line that we have all loved in the past has now relaunched with the same company that's brings us the most beautiful Tiffany and co. As a reminder it is never necessary to have an appointment to come in to the Optical gallery to browse, get some fin tune adjustments or even just to see the world's first electronic glasses. With open doors-Always CVC.

CVC Staying Cool with Social Media

As many people are these days, the clinic is constantly trying to keep up with the continuously growing world of "Social Media." With little delay the Cheyenne Vision Clinic has recently introduced not only a Twitter account but also a new riveting board on Pinterest that reflects a large selection of The Optical Gallery's selection. With plans in the near future to extend the boards to include a board reflecting retinal photography that we think you may think is cool too! And, the board with contacts, solutions and maybe even some cool colored contact photos. So clear some space on your "I want..." board, there will soon be plenty more to add to it.

On Facebook and Twitter we have staff continuously trying to educate our patients on not only upcoming events in the office but also fun tidbits of knowledge that we run across in the industry. We love to have interaction with our patients and urge anyone, and everyone to join in on the fun.

Acuvue 1– Day Astigmatism Exclusively at CVC

It has been a long wait for many but as the year began we welcomed a new line of contacts that we hope to be a huge relief to many. The Acuvue brand recently released the 1-Day Acuvue Moist Astigmatism. This is the first Acuvue brand one day disposable astigmatism contact. With the majority of our staff already wearing the newly released contacts, we say with confidence that we know you'll Love them!

National Geographic recently released an article, that acknowledges the retinal photography we do here in our office, to be one of the "Extreme Scientific Imaging: Best of 2011 Named."

Little Vision, Huge Difference

It's 5:00 a.m. and your alarm just will. not. STOP. You use all the effort left in your body to lift just one leg, use all your weight as leverage to flip over the edge of the bed, holding on to only the small ounce of hope that your instincts will rebound just enough to keep your face from hitting the hard wood floor below you. The bed that's radiating with the warmth and perfect grooves from a poor night's rest, just begs your aching neck and legs to lay back down. There is way too much on your mind, as you rinse your face and peek up over the edge of the warm wash cloth. As you pry your eyes open to barely see the puffs of marshmallows you have built up under your eyes and the pretty pink strawberry milk of your eyes. These eyes just cannot afford another day of some sticky contact creeping its way out every time you blink and your eyelids seem to have liquid rubber holding them together keeping you from getting the contacts in to begin with. Not to mention trying to find your solution and contacts in that luggage you just threw by your bed at 2 am last night when you finally got home from that waste of a business trip. .

It's the moment you remember the doctor switched you to daily wear contacts that saves you from being ten minutes late to work. It's the daily wear contacts that make post-poning unpacking until after work that much easier. It's the daily wear contacts that help to keep your eyes moist, that make you excited to put in those contacts again. It's the convenience of daily wear contacts that make everything about being a workaholic, or just an average person, that much easier.

IT SHOULD ALWAYS BE EASY TO SEE.

Ask your doctors about daily wear contacts, it's just the easiest thing for everyone.

"Where you can see eye to eye with the doctors!"
